

October 22, 2025: An Alert to the World on Trump's Desperate Desire to Force an Update

I am writing to update anyone, and everyone, that is aware of these circumstances
Of the following impression that is relentlessly being driven across my house over the last couple of days:

Donald Trump's team of enablers, whomever you believe them to be,
Are desperate to 'make something happen.'

I am writing this message to alert the public at large that these same forces that have been so adamant about broadcasting their intentions into my life are actively appearing - to me -

- to be extremely impatient,
- to be desperate, and
- to be moving in full force toward 'agitating' something 'new' to happen.

Please be aware of the current set of extremely difficult and terrible circumstances that we find ourselves in here in America.

Donald's team does not like their current set of cards as they are actively attempting to 'draw' new ones by pushing the envelope further and further into the direction of criminal behavior.

Thank you for your attention to this very important matter.

Kindest regards,

Chris Carlin

P.S. For the record, their team is, at this very moment, pushing its 'Fragile Vessel Ice Cream Truck' past our home playing a very loud message in a 'second language.'

P.P.S. This is the exact same sign language message that began around the death of Charlie Kirk to coincide with the revelation of the 'Bella Ciao' engraving on the assassin's shell casing.

P.P.P.S. Another very loud, powerful, truck is slowly creeping past our home as I include the second post-script.

Here is the original video-posting from the first instance of this new vehicle as it passed our home on September 12, 2025.

Here is the original writing that I posted recognizing some of the symbolic significance, also on September 12, 2025.

(This vehicle with its loud broadcast has been used on numerous occasions now to 'amplify' and 'hype up' the reminders that my wife and I are facing threats of being assassinated by members of the Donald Trump administration.)
